

Katherine Karambu, Communications Specialist Consultant

12 Years Experience

Katherine brings hands-on experience from the development communications fields where she has served as a Communications and Branding Manager with various non-profit organizations in the agribusiness, gender, health, human, and land rights sectors over the last 12 years. She is highly adaptable, a quick study, a driven team player, and a creative individual who enjoys documenting stories of impact, creating and implementing communication strategies, and designing communication products to foster learning, growth, and transformation among individuals and in society. She has a Bachelor of Arts degree in Social Communication from the Catholic University of Eastern Africa (CUEA).